Curriculum planning
We have developed an integrated activity-based curriculum in accordance with the Education Bureau's Curriculum Development Guidelines. We teach children by units in a spiral, progressive manner, on the basis of their physical and mental developments so that they learn through play. We will follow the "Kindergarten Education Curriculum Guide" (2017) to plan curriculum. Children of nursery classes will not be asked to write, and there will not be mechanical copying exercises and drills on calculation.
Learning / Teaching approach & activities
Our child-centered activity-based approach, which employs "design activity", "whole language teaching" and "Mandarin and computer teaching", etc. to fit the subject, can improve children's Bi-literacy and Tri-lingualism skills; meanwhile, it allows children to take part in games and look for causes, and through all kinds of ways such as outdoor visits and small experiments, extends children's non-textbook knowledge and first-hand experiences, and enhances their learning interest and effects.
Assessment of children's learning experiences
